Teachers are encouraged to use the Vehicle Texts for 'read aloud' so the entire text can be enjoyed together outside of the Steps to Read lessons. Steps to Read uses adapted extracts from the Vehicle Texts, not the entire book. The Vehicle Texts should also be available for children to read independently. Children hearing and engaging with entire texts supports a love of reading

What is Steps to Read?

The primary aim of Steps to Read is to teach reading comprehension skills and strategies explicitly.

Steps to Read is planning support for whole class Shared Reading through carefully crafted units of work. These termly units of work also help schools to provide curriculum knowledge for several foundation subjects. They empower teachers to teach all aspects of word reading and comprehension through high-quality fiction, non-fiction and poetry vehicle texts.

Steps to Read provides a clear teaching sequence to reading lessons that explicitly teach reading skills and strategies in a cumulative way through evidence-based approaches. These comprehensive termly units have been constructed so that the entire statutory curriculum for reading is covered from EYFS to Y6.

Underlying Principles

Steps to Read works when:

- formative assessment is used to inform the teaching
- it involves all the children in the class
- time allocated to each lesson is approximately 30 - 40 minutes
- the four steps teaching sequence is adhered to for each session (i.e. Read, Model, Practise, Apply) where the suggested timings are used to guide the learning in each lesson
- it is consistently and regularly delivered
- it is integral to whole school improvement of reading
- all adults supporting learners are deployed effectively so there is access for all
- children have access to a copy of the vehicle text being explored
- children are taught explicit comprehension skills e.g. prediction; questioning; clarifying; summarising and inference etc and these are reinforced through Guided Reading and across the curriculum
- it does not replace Guided Reading

NB Steps to Read can be adapted to meet the amounts of time placed on the daily explicit teaching of reading in your school through whole class shared reading.

There is an expectation that the vehicle texts used in Steps to Read termly units will be available for children to explore and enjoy in their entirety beyond the taught sessions. That is, the vehicle texts can be shared through other reading experiences for children. These may include reading aloud, paired reading, guided reading, placed in the class reading area and pulled upon to inform other curriculum lessons etc. This, in turn, also supports children's love of reading.

Beautiful texts that broaden the reading experience: Beautiful texts that deepen curriculum knowledge

Step to Read also:

- is sequenced, coherent and progressive
- uses language-rich texts for vocabulary teaching
- includes all elements of comprehension, taught sequentially across an academic year
- has a clear focus on the skills and strategies needed to be a proficient and confident reader
- uses engaging texts to promote a life-long love of reading
- includes poetry, non-fiction and fiction that enhances learning across the curriculum

These detailed units are also vehicles to your wider curriculum. This, in turn, builds rich curriculum knowledge where a school's reading Intent and Implementation leads to Impact through improved outcomes for children.

Steps to Read is whole class shared reading and is one of a range of reading repertoires within a rich reading curriculum (see adjacent box). It uses language rich 'real' books to do so.

Steps to Read rests within a broad and rich reading entitlement for children:

- Phonics Lessons
- Guided Reading
- Whole Class Shared Reading (Steps to Read)
- Read Aloud
- Paired Reading
- Reading with children
- Performance Reading
- Independent Reading

The 4 Step Teaching Sequence Explained

Each lesson follows the same Steps to Read teaching sequence and provides a detailed framework of how to move through the 4 step teaching sequence. A typical Steps to Read lesson is 30 – 40 minutes. Lessons are always informed by teachers' knowledge of their children (formative assessment). Steps to Read units of work know the standard expected of each year group and effective pedagogies that support learning. However professional teacher decisions are crucial to ensure the needs of the children are met when using this document which provides a proven scaffold and strong teaching structure.

<h2>Step 1</h2>		<h3>Teacher Read</h3> Vocabulary from the vehicle text is shared and discussed first to ease 'cognitive load' for children. Anchor Question(s), are shared which enable children to read for a purpose. Questioning and enjoyment with the text is important here. Choral reading is featured to develop fluency, which is an important step to comprehension.
<h2>Step 2</h2>		<h3>Teacher Model</h3> Teacher models reading skills and strategies explicitly demonstrating how these are applied when 'being' a reader. Teacher also models the important textual evidence required to answer Anchor Question(s).
<h2>Step 3</h2>		<h3>Children Practise</h3> Children explore new vocabulary and through paired and table discussion, read the text again. Children Text Marking is a common feature of this step of both new vocabulary and important evidence towards the Anchor Questions.
<h2>Step 4</h2>		<h3>Children Apply</h3> Children demonstrate how they have internalised new reading skills, strategies and their understanding of the vehicle text. Reading evidence may well be placed in Reading Journals. Formative assessments and bespoke feedback on learning help teachers plan for subsequent learning. Step 4 enables feedback on evidence against the Anchor Question(s) and the application of taught strategies and skills.

Learning Across the Week

Each week there are five Steps to Read lessons. The first four lessons follow the 4 Step to Read teaching sequence and its suggested timings. The fifth lesson is to provide an opportunity for children to apply those subject skills and knowledge taught in the previous 4 sessions through an extended application session.

In most Steps to Read lessons we:

circle evidence

underline new vocabulary

Getting Ready for Lessons

In every lesson ensure that the following resources are ready:

- copies of the vehicle text / extract and new vocabulary for every child to see
- enlarged copies of the vehicle text and the new vocabulary on the IWB or flip chart for modelling, text marking and referencing throughout the lesson
- anchor question(s) visible for the children to see and refer to throughout the session
- be familiar with the focus comprehension skills and strategies being explicitly taught throughout the lesson
- notes, paper, whiteboards and pencils for children to jot ideas
- vocabulary identified for explicit teaching*

*Vocabulary for the week

Trial schools pre taught the vocabulary prior to the session. This enabled efficient timings within a Steps to Read lessons.

Before you start:

- Always read the vehicle text
- Always read the lesson outline
- Remember Steps to Read (Whole Class Shared Reading) offers challenge through a vehicle text that may prove too difficult for children to comprehend or decode independently

--	--	---	--

	<h2>Step 1: READ</h2>	Read to Children 12 mins
---	-----------------------	------------------------------------

Activate Prior Knowledge: At the beginning of the lesson, play a little of the American national anthem and show photos of American landscapes on the board. Finish with a map / globe / Google maps of North America. Can the children identify the country? Ask the children what they think they already know about North America and briefly create a Mind Map on the flip chart to be added to throughout the lesson as the children learn more facts. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the session.

Vocabulary: Find these in the context of where they are located within the text and note that they are written in bold. Ask the children why they think it is in bold and explain that they are examples of technical vocabulary and appear in the glossary. Show the glossary to the children (p.30 in the book) and share the definitions.

Explore & respond: Skimming - Teacher to show the focus page to the children for 10 seconds and ask them to read the bold print words headings and subheadings. Ask them for the gist of what the page is about and key information found. Now read the extract aloud to the class (Lesson 1: Teacher Model/Children Practise). Ask the children where in the book they think this extract would come from and where on the page. Encourage the children to explain how they know that this is the introductory paragraph. Ask the children to rank the degree of formality of this extract and give examples of the formality from the text, for example 'North America is the third largest continent on Earth. It has an area of about 24.6 million square km (9.5 million square miles)'. Draw attention to technical words and the figures and units of measurement.

Fluency: Choral Read the fluency extract. Encourage the children to use Stress when reading the technical words and the figures and units of measurement clearly to aid understanding.

--	------------------------	------------------------------------

Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Example Model Question for demonstration: Why is North America described as a 'one-of-a-kind place'? Model using Scanning for the key phrase 'one-of-a-kind place'. Now circle the words and phrases that provide evidence, 'many different geological features', 'ecosystems' and 'plants and animals' and model answering the question by using the word 'because' to answer. Teacher Talks: North America is described as a 'one-of-a-kind place' because it has so many different geological features. It also has such a range of ecosystems, plants and animals that make it special.

Reference the Text: On an enlarged copy of the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around words that provide evidence B) underline new vocabulary explored.

	<h2>Step 3: PRACTISE</h2>	Children Practise 8 mins
---	---------------------------	------------------------------------

Children to explore and discuss: Refer to the Anchor Questions A and B. Children to examine the text and read through in pairs. Use the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise sheet extract to help aid discussions and read through the questions. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Questions on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions.

Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: Actively encourage children to use Scan and Skim, as modelled, to locate words and phrases when looking for evidence against the Anchor Questions. Encourage the children to use 'because' to answer 'why'. If the children are finding it difficult to locate the evidence, consider for Anchor Question A: 'largest countries that share the continent' and for Anchor Question B: 'shares the same tectonic plate'.

---	------------------------	----------------------------------

Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 1 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: As a class, return to the Anchor Questions A and B and take brief feedback on the children's responses. Next, refer to Anchor Question C: Why is 'Get ready to explore' a clever ending to the introductory paragraph? Encourage the children to consider that this has two meanings. Ask the children what two things they need to be ready to explore (America and this book). Also consider that this line really engages the reader by addressing them directly and note how this shows a different degree of formality (more informal) than the rest of the extract. Finally, encourage the children to add any new learning to the Mind Map begun at the beginning of the lesson.

Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on:

- Responses to the Anchor Questions
- Use of the strategies taught i.e. Mind Map, Choral Reading, Scanning, Skimming, Text Marking

- Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question A
- because they are the largest countries in the continent
- Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question B
- because it shares the same tectonic plate
- Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question C
- explore could have 2 meanings – explore America or explore the book.
 - it engages the reader

Lesson 1: Vocabulary

Word/Phrase	Definition
geological	relating to Earth's rocks and minerals
ecosystems	interconnected living things, such as animals and plants, and the non-living things, such as air and water, in one place
tectonic plate	moving piece of Earth's crust, or the top layer of earth

Lesson 1: Fluency

North America is the third largest continent on Earth. It has an area of about 24.6 million square km (9.5 million square miles). It has many different geological features, ecosystems and plants and animals that make it a one-of-a-kind place. Get ready to explore.

Lesson 1: Anchor Questions

- A) Why do you think that Canada, the United States and Mexico are the most well-known countries in the continent?
- B) Why is Greenland considered part of North America?
- C) Why is 'Get ready to explore' a clever ending to the introductory paragraph?

Lesson 1: Teacher Model / Children Practise

North America

North America is the third largest continent on Earth. It has an area of about 24.6 million square km (9.5 million square miles). It has many different geological features, ecosystems and plants and animals that make it a one-of-a-kind place. Get ready to explore.

More than meets the eye

You may think of North America as being made up of Canada, the United States and Mexico. These are the largest countries that share the continent but there are 27 countries and territories in all. The countries in Central America, as well as many islands in the Caribbean sea, are all part of the North American continent. Greenland is part of the North American continent, too, because it shares the same tectonic plate.

Activate Prior Knowledge: Share the double page spread – with the title and text covered so that the children can see the photographs and map. Ask the children to Predict what these pages are about. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the lesson. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 2 Vocabulary sheet. They are words from the Year 5/6 list. Explore & respond: Skimming - Teacher to show the focus page to the children for 10 seconds and ask them to read the bold print words headings and subheadings take brief feedback. Now teacher to read aloud the extract. Use Intonation to emphasise the formal style. Consider the degree of formality and discuss what makes this text seem so formal. Consider the names of the mountains, the figures and measurements and the use of 'it stands at' and 'are home to' as formal language choices. Fluency: Choral Read x2 the fluency extract. Encourage the children to use Intonation to emphasise the use of the formal style as modelled.
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 2: MODEL</h2>		Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Refer to the Model Question: Would you describe North America as mountainous? Use evidence from the text to support your answer. Lesson 2: Fluency

There are plenty of mountain ranges in North America with impressive peaks. Each of the three largest countries in North America has several peaks that are more than 4572 m (15,000 feet) tall.

Lesson 2: Anchor Question

- A) Find and copy the phrase in the first line which shows that the mountains in North America are high.
- B) Name the three highest peaks in North America.
- C) The Rockies are a popular tourist destination. Why do you think this area is popular with visitors? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.

Lesson 2: Teacher Model / Children Practise

Mountains

There are plenty of mountain ranges in North America with impressive peaks. Each of the three largest countries in North America has several peaks that are more than 4572 m (15,000 feet) tall. The three tallest peaks on the continent are Denali, or Mount McKinley, in Alaska, Mount Logan in Canada and Volcan Citlaltepetl in Mexico.

The Rocky Mountains

The Rocky Mountains, also called the Rockies, stretch from Canada to New Mexico. They were formed more than 35 million years ago. The highest peak in the Rockies is Mount Elbert in Colorado. It stands at 4399m (14,433 feet) tall. The Rockies are home to a variety of animals, including bighorn sheep, moose, elk, deer, bears, coyotes and more. There are many forests in the range, as well, offering the perfect environment for these creatures.

Extract Adapted from © North America (Mathalon Maps) by Joanne Randolph

Lesson 2: Teacher Model

Would you describe North America as mountainous? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.

Yes, I would describe North America as mountainous because the text says that there are plenty of mountain ranges there and plenty means a lot. It also describes the peaks as 'impressive' and says that several of the peaks are more than 4572 m (15,000 feet) tall so I know that they are high mountains. The text also says that the Rockies stretch from Canada to New Mexico, so I know that the mountain range covers a lot of the country.

Lesson 2: Children Apply

A) Find and copy the phrase in the first line which shows that the mountains in North America are high.

B) Name the three highest peaks in North America.

C) The Rockies are a popular tourist destination. Why do you think this area is popular with visitors? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.

Lesson	3	Vehicle Text & Page	https://kids.nationalgeographic.com/geography/countries/article/united-states
Anchor Question(s): A) Why did the author choose to include a map to present the information? B) Using the information from the text, match each region's name to each fact. C) Find and copy the phrase which shows why many people came to the United States. D) Using words and phrases from the text, which region would you most like to visit and why? Model Question: Why did the author choose to include the 'fast facts' box to present that information?		Vocabulary Teaching: immigrants refuge comprises stark barren	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Use information on-screen and on paper Identify features of texts, e.g. introduction to topic, sequence, illustrations, degree of formality Use a range of strategies for skimming, e.g. finding key words or phrases, gist, main ideas, themes 	Focus Content Domain(s): 2f identify / explain how information / narrative content is related and contributes to meaning as a whole 2g identify / explain how meaning is enhanced through choice of words and phrases

	Step 1: READ	Read to Children 12 mins
--	--------------	-----------------------------

Teacher Note: As one of this lesson's objectives is to use information on screen, if possible, the children should access the text on screen on the website in pairs. You may choose to give the children a paper copy of the text to Text Mark during the lesson.

Activate Prior Knowledge: Ask the children where they might look if they had to find out more about North America. Discuss the use of websites and what can be the advantages and disadvantages (consider the reliability as a possible problem and that they can be constantly updated as a possible advantage).

Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the session.

Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 3 Vocabulary.

Explore & respond: Skimming - Teacher to show the focus screen to the children for 10 seconds and ask them to read the bold print words headings and subheadings to get a gist and briefly take feedback. Now spend more time reading aloud the whole text included in Lesson 3: Teacher Model/Children Practise – and children to follow on their own screens. Ask the children identify the layout features used to help orientate the reader and describe their function. Create a Mind Map on the flip chart.

Fluency: Choral Read x2 the fluency extract, using Intonation to aid with meaning.

	Step 2: MODEL	Model to Children 5 mins
--	---------------	-----------------------------

Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Example Teacher Model Question for demonstration: Why did the author choose to include the 'fast facts' box to present that information?

Model Re-reading the relevant part of the text then use Think Aloud to answer the question. 'The 'Fast Facts' box gives you the most important information such as capital and population. The different coloured box signals to the reader that this information is important. It is structured as a subheading then the answer so it is quick to find. Because the information is facts, full sentences are not needed, and the list style is quicker for the reader to quickly Scan to get the necessary information.

Reference the Text: On the screen text, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around the words and annotating the layout features that provide evidence for the model question B) underline the new vocabulary explored

	Step 3: PRACTISE	Children Practise 8 mins
--	------------------	-----------------------------

Children to explore and discuss: Refer to the Anchor Questions. Children to examine text on screen and read through in pairs. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Questions on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions.

Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: Actively encourage children to use Think Aloud with their partner, as modelled, and to use Skimming when finding the information and answering the questions. If children are struggling to find the answers for A, focus on which statements are definitely not true first. For B, encourage the children to look at each region paragraph and skim for the words included in the facts. For C, encourage the children to skim for 'People' to find the correct place to find the answer.

	Step 4: APPLY	Children Apply 10 mins
--	---------------	---------------------------

Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 3 Children Apply Activity.

Verbal & Written Responses: As a class, briefly feedback on the Anchor Questions A-C then refer to Anchor Question D and ask the children which region they would most like to visit and why. Take a few answers in a whole class discussion – ensuring that the children use words and phrases from the text in their answer, then encourage all children to ask and answer in pairs or small groups.

Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on:

- Responses to the Anchor Questions
- Use of the strategies taught i.e. Text Mark, Mind Map, Choral Read, Skimming, Scanning, Intonation, Re-read, Think Aloud

Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question A

- Ticks in the second and fourth statements

Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question B

B) Using the information from the text, match each region's name to each fact.
New England	Established after this coast was
The Mid-Atlantic	Attracted European settlers in search of religious freedom
The South	Known for meetings
The Midwest	Home to the Grand Canyon
The Southwest	Home to some of the East Coast's largest cities
The West	Were called the 'nation's breadbaskets' because of all the agriculture

Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question C

- seeking refuge and a better way of life.

Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question D

- Any region supported by appropriate evidence

United States

The United States of America is the world's third largest country in size and nearly the third largest in terms of population.

FAST FACTS

- OFFICIAL NAME: United States of America
- FORM OF GOVERNMENT: Constitution-based federal republic
- CAPITAL: Washington, D.C.
- POPULATION: 329,256,465
- LANGUAGES: English, Spanish (no official national language)
- MONEY: U.S. dollar
- AREA: 3,794,083 square miles (9,826,630 square kilometers)
- MAJOR MOUNTAIN RANGES: Rocky Mountains, Appalachian Mountains
- MAJOR RIVERS: Mississippi, Missouri, Colorado

GEOGRAPHY

The United States of America is the world's third largest country in size and nearly the third largest in terms of population. Located in North America, the country is bordered on the west by the Pacific Ocean and to the east by the Atlantic Ocean. Along the northern border is Canada and the southern border is Mexico. There are 50 states and the District of Columbia.

More than twice the size of the European Union, the United States has high mountains in the West and a vast central plain. The lowest point in the country is in Death Valley which is at -282 feet (-86 meters) and the highest peak is Denali (Mt. McKinley) at 20,320 feet (6,198 meters).

PEOPLE & CULTURE

Throughout its history, the United States has been a nation of immigrants. The population is diverse with people from all over the world seeking refuge and a better way of life.

The country is divided into six regions: New England, the mid-Atlantic, the South, the Midwest, the Southwest, and the West. European settlers came to New England in search of religious freedom. These states are Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

The mid-Atlantic region includes Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and the city of Washington, D.C. These industrial areas attracted millions of European immigrants and gave rise to some of the East Coast's largest cities: New York, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

The South includes Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia, all of which struggled after the Civil War, which lasted from 1860-1865.

The Midwest is home to the country's agricultural base and is called the "nation's breadbasket." The region comprises the state of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

The Southwest is a beautiful stark landscape of prairie and desert. The states of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas are considered the Southwest and are home to some of the world's great natural marvels, including the Grand Canyon and Carlsbad Caverns.

The American West, home of rolling plains and the cowboy, is a symbol of the pioneering spirit of the United States. The West is diverse, ranging from endless wilderness to barren desert, coral reefs to Arctic tundra, Hollywood to Yellowstone. The states of the West include Alaska, Colorado, California, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

B) Using the information from the text, match each region's name to each fact

New England	struggled after the civil war
The Mid- Atlantic	attracted European settlers in search of religious freedom
The South	famous for cowboys
The Midwest	home to the Grand Canyon
The Southwest	home to some of the East Coast's largest cities
The West	was called the "nation's breadbasket" because of all the agriculture

C) Find and copy one phrase which shows why many people came to the United States.

Anchor Question(s): A) The Mississippi is described as 'mighty'. Give two impressions this gives you of the river. B) Name two native species which are now protected in the United States. Model Question: Yosemite Valley is described as 'majestic'. Give two impressions this gives you of this area.		Vocabulary Teaching: prairie lands interspersed preserves	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Use information on-screen and on paper • Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning • Use a range of strategies for skimming, e.g. finding key words or phrases, gist, main ideas, themes • Identify, discuss and evaluate the difference between literal and figurative language, commenting on the effectiveness of the author's language to create mood and build tension and the impact on the reader
Focus Content Domain(s): 2g identify / explain how meaning is enhanced through choice of words and phrases
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 1: READ</h2>		Read to Children 12 mins
Activate Prior Knowledge: Show the children some photographs or a short video of North America – including the Mississippi river and Yosemite. You could choose a short clip from: https://www.bing.com/videos/search?q=yosemite&&view=detail&mid=1028D9C83C5808874EC21028D9C83C5808874EC2&&FORM=VRDGAR https://www.bing.com/videos/search?q=river+mississippi+for+kids&&view=detail&mid=2D2EADF4C65F70D279B42D2EADF4C65F70D279B4&&FORM=VRD
Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the lesson. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 4 Vocabulary sheet. Explore & respond: Skimming - Teacher to show the focus screen to the children for 10 seconds and ask them to read the bold print words headings and subheadings to get a gist and briefly take feedback. Teacher to read aloud the extract to the children from the screen. Discuss with the children how the author uses adjectives and how these give more detail and enhance the meaning of the text. Find these adjectives on the screen (tropical, barren, rolling, dense, majestic, mighty) Draw attention to how the author's word choices also emphasise the diversity of the landscape. Consider the Reader Effect . Fluency: Choral Read x2 the fluency extract. Encourage children to Stress the adjectives as modelled to emphasize the diversity of the landscape.
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Example Model Question for demonstration: Yosemite Valley is described as ' majestic '. Give two impressions this gives you of this area. Model Scanning for the key word ' majestic ' and circling it on the text. Model how to answer the question. Teacher Talks: I know that Yosemite Valley is a long valley surrounded by rocky mountains and tall forests. The word ' majestic ' means big and beautiful and incredible. I need to make sure I give different impressions in my two answers. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. It gives me the impression that Yosemite Valley is beautiful and magnificent. 2. It gives me the impression that Yosemite Valley is massive and on an impressive scale. Reference the Text: On the screen copy, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around the words that provide evidence for the model question B) underline the new vocabulary explored
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 3: PRACTISE</h2>		Children Practise 8 mins
Children to explore and discuss: Refer to the Anchor Questions . Children to examine text on screen and read through in pairs. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Questions on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions. Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: For Anchor Question A , actively encourage children to decide what they think ' mighty ' means then consider it in context. For B , encourage children to Skim and Scan for the key work from the question, ' protected ' or other words which mean the same.
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 4: APPLY</h2>		Children Apply 10 mins
Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 4 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: As a class, return to the Anchor Question and take feedback on what the children have written in their Apply Activity. Class discussion - Ask the children which other words in this text, in addition to 'majestic' and 'mighty', they think are effective. What is their Reader Effect ? Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Responses to the Anchor Questions • Use of the strategies taught i.e. Choral Reading, Stress, Text Marking, Skimming, Scanning, Reader Effect

NATURE

The landscape varies across the large country from tropical beaches in Florida to peaks in the Rocky Mountains, from rolling prairie lands and barren deserts in the West to dense wilderness areas in the Northeast and Northwest. Interspersed throughout are the Great Lakes, the Grand Canyon, the majestic Yosemite Valley, and the mighty Mississippi River.

The wildlife is as diverse as the landscape. Mammals such as bison once roamed freely across the plains, but now live only in preserves. Black bears, grizzlies, and polar bears are the largest carnivores. There are over 20,000 flower species and most came from Europe. There are more than 400 areas which are protected and maintained by the National Park Service, and many other parks in each state.

The bald eagle is the national bird and symbol of the United States and is a protected species.

Extended Apply Session

Through this selection of activities children will need copies of:

- Lesson 5: Extended Application Activity
- the Vehicle Text

Activate Prior knowledge: Tell the children that today they will be answering questions about Canada. Ask the children whether they would rather use an information book or a website and encourage them to give reasons why. Finally, tell the children that they will be using both and comparing them.

Teacher Note:

- In this lesson there is an expectation for the children to work with increased independence and demonstrate the skills and strategies explicitly taught throughout the previous sessions.
- Depending on the time allocated to this session select all or some of the following activities.

Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 4 Vocabulary sheet. Use Find Read Talk strategy.

Share Anchor Questions: Refer to these throughout the lesson.

Enjoy and Respond to the text: In pairs, children to read both texts about Canada – the paper copy and the on-screen copy. Ask the children to list or annotate the features of the text in each version and to consider the effect for the reader. If the children are struggling with this, encourage them to consider, for example – it has subheadings to tell the reader what that section is going to be about and to orientate the reader, and let them refer to the Mind Map created in Lesson 3.

Encourage the children to use Think Aloud and to discuss which text they feel is better for them as a reader and to continue to consider this as they answer questions.

Written Responses / Evidence Anchor Question(s):

Children to use both texts to answer Anchor Questions A) and B). Encourage the children to use Skimming for key words and phrases as practised throughout the week. Record the answers in Lesson 5: Children Apply.

Additional Activity 2:

As a class, refer to Anchor Question C) and ask the children to split into two groups (agree or disagree) – on either side of the classroom. Give the group some time to work together to make notes of their reasons then hold a class debate. Encourage the children to provide reasoned justifications to support their views and to refer to the two texts used during this lesson.

Comprehension Questions

Children to use both of today's texts to answer the comprehension questions below.

Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to the children.

This may include:

- use of the strategies taught i.e. Find Read Talk, Think Aloud, Text mark, Skimming
- responses to the Anchor Questions

*terms shown in bold explained in the teaching 'Comprehension Skills and Strategies' section

Lesson 5: Teacher Model / Children Practise

O, Canada!

Canada is North America's largest country by area. Canada is also the second-largest country in the world. It has 10 provinces and three territories. While Canada has its own government and constitution, it recognises the Queen of England as its monarch.

North versus South

Canada's capital is Ottawa which is in southern Ontario. Although Canada is larger than the United States it has far fewer people. Around 75% of the Canadian people live in the southern part of the country, close to the border with the United States. This is because the northern parts of the country can be freezing cold and the land there is not fertile.

GEOGRAPHY

Canada is a vast and rugged land. From north to south it spans more than half the Northern Hemisphere. From east to west it stretches almost 4,700 miles (7,560 kilometers) across six time zones. It is the second largest country in the world, but it has only one-half of one percent of the world's population.

Canada features black-blue lakes, numerous rivers, majestic western mountains, rolling central plains, and forested eastern valleys. The Canadian Shield, a hilly region of lakes and swamps, stretches across northern Canada and has some of the oldest rocks on Earth.

Canada's far north lies in the frozen grip of the Arctic, where ice, snow, and glaciers dominate the landscape. Few trees grow here, and farming is not practical. Native Canadians, called First Nations people, live in this region by hunting and fishing.

Lesson 1: Anchor Questions

A) What impression do you get of Sam? Which words and phrases give you this impression?

B) What themes do you predict will be in this book?

Lesson 1: Teacher Model / Children Practise

I thought about New York and the noise and the lights and how a snowstorm always seemed very friendly there. I thought about our apartment, too. At that moment it seemed bright and lighted and warm. I had to keep saying to myself: There were eleven of us squeezed in it! Dad, Mother, four sisters, four brothers and me. And not one of us liked it, except perhaps little Nina, who was too young to know. Dad didn't like it even a bit. He had been a sailor once, but when I was born, he gave up the sea and worked on the docks in New York. Dad didn't like this land. He liked the sea, wet and big and endless.

Sometimes he would tell me about great grandfather Gribley, who owned land in the Catskill mountains and felled the trees and built a home and ploughed the land - only to discover that he wanted to be a sailor. The farm failed, and great grandfather Gribley went to sea. I could hear dad's voice saying, "That land is still in the family's name. Somewhere in the Catskills is an old beech with the name Gribley carved on it. It marks the northern boundary of Gribley's folly - the land is no place for a Gribley."

The land is no place for a Gribley and here I am 300 feet from the beach with Gribley carved on it. I knew that that this land was just the place for me ... Sam Gribley.

I left New York in May. I had a penknife, a ball of cord, an axe, and $40, which I had saved from selling magazine subscriptions. I also had some flint and steel which I had bought at a Chinese store in the city. The man in the store had showed me how to use it. He had also given me a little purse to put it in, and some tinder to catch the sparks. He had told me that if I run out of tinder, I should burn cloth, and use the charred ashes. I thanked him and said, "This is not this is the kind of thing I am not going to forget."

On the train north to the Catskills I unwrapped my flint and steel and practised hitting them together to make sparks. I hitched rides into the Catskill mountains. At about 4 o'clock a truck driver and I passed through a beautiful, dark hemlock forest and I said to him, "This is as far as I'm going." He looked all around and said, "You live here?" "No," I said, "but I'm running away from home, and this is just the kind of forest I have always dreamed I would run to. I think I'll camp here tonight." I hopped out of the cab.

"Hey boy!" the driver shouted, "Are you serious? Well now, ain't that something? You know when I was your age I did the same thing. Only thing was, I was a farm boy and ran to the city, and you're a city boy running to the woods. I was scared of the city. Do you think you'll be scared of the woods?"

"No way!" I shouted loudly. He laughed. Everybody laughed at me. Even dad. He had roared with laughter and told me about the time he'd run away from home but was home in bed before anyone knew he was gone. Then he told me, "Sure, go try it. Every boy should try it."

Lesson 2: Anchor Questions

- A) Visualise the setting from the author's description.
- B) What mood does the author create with his choice of language and what is the effect on the reader?

Lesson 2: Teacher Read

I am on my mountain in a tree home that people have passed without ever knowing I am here. The house is a hemlock tree 6 feet in diameter and must be as old as the mountain itself. I came upon it last summer and dug and burnt it out until I made a snug cave in the tree that I now call home.

My bed is on the right as you enter and is made of ash slats and covered with deerskin. On the left is a small fireplace about knee high. It is of clay and stones. It has a chimney that leads the smoke out through a knothole. I chipped out three other knotholes to let fresh air in. The air coming in is bitter cold. It must be below zero outside, and yet I can sit here in my tree and write with bare hands. The fire is small, too. It doesn't take much fire to warm this tree room. It is the fourth of December, I think. It may be the fifth. I am not sure because I have not recently counted the notches in the aspen pole that is my calendar. I have been just too busy gathering nuts and berries, smoking venison, fish, and small game to keep up with the exact date.

The lamp I am writing by is deer fat poured into a turtle shell with a strip of my old city trousers for a wick. It snowed all day yesterday and today. I have not been outside since the storm began, and I am bored for the first time since I ran away from home eight months ago to live on the land.

I think the storm is dying down because the tree is not crying so much. When the wind really blows, the whole tree moans right down to the roots, which is where I am. I wonder if I should dig the snow. But that would mean I would have to put it somewhere, and the only place to put it is in my nice snug tree. The pounding of my heart echoes around the hollow in my tree as I realise I've always dug into the snow from the top, never up from under. What would I be greeted with in the morning?

When I wrote that last winter, I was scared and thought maybe I'd never get out of my tree. I had been scared for two days, ever since the first blizzard hit the Catskill Mountains. When I came up to sunlight, which I did by simply poking my head into the soft snow and standing up, I laughed at my dark fears. Everything was white, clean, shining, and beautiful. The sky was blue, blue, blue. The hemlock grove was laced with snow, the meadow was pure white linen, and the gorge sparkled like a mirror. It was so beautiful and peaceful that I laughed out loud. I guess I laughed because my first snowstorm was over and it had not been so terrible after all.

Then I shouted, "I did it!" My voice never got very far. It was hushed by the blanket hiding my home.

Lesson 2: Teacher Model

B)What mood does the author create with his choice of language and what is the effect on the reader?
What mood does the author create?	What language choices does the author make to create this mood?	What is the effect on the reader?
The author creates a worrying, sad mood by using personification and describing the tree as 'crying' and 'moaning'.	'the storm is dying down because the tree is not crying so much'. 'the whole tree moans right down to the roots'	This makes the reader imagine the scary, sad sounds being made by the storm and feel fear about the storm.
This worrying mood is emphasised by the author expressing how Sam is feeling – that his heart is pounding and he is wondering about what will happen.	'I wonder if I should dig the snow' 'The pounding of my heart echoes around the hollow in my tree' 'What would I be greeted with in the morning?'	This makes the reader feel concerned for Sam and to worry about what will happen.

And there they were again in my hemlock; three busy chickadees. They would flit and rush around and click and fly from one eating spot to another. They were noisy, scolding and busily following each other.

Lesson 3: Anchor Questions

- A) How are the chickadees called Mrs O'Brien, Mrs Callaway and Mrs Federio similar to the real Mrs O'Brien, Mrs Callaway and Mrs Federio of Third Avenue?
- B) Why do you think the author included this comparison of the birds to the people of Third Avenue? What does it tell the reader about Sam?

Lesson 3: Teacher Model / Children Practise

The birds were magnificent and almost tame. They talked to each other, warned each other, fought for food, for kingship, and for the right to make the most noise. Sometimes I would sit in my doorway, which became an entrance to behold, a porch of pure white snow, adorned with snowmen, and watched them with endless interest. They reminded me of Third Avenue, and I gave them the names that seemed to fit.

There was Mr Brackett. He lived on the first floor of our apartment house, and no one could sit on his step or even make a noise near his house without being chased. Mr Brackett, the chickadee, spent most of his time chasing the young chickadees through the woods. Only his mate could share his favourite perches and feeding places.

Then there were Mrs O'Brien, Mrs Callaway, and Mrs Federio. On Third Avenue they would all go off to the market together first thing in the morning talking and pushing and stopping to lecture to children in gutters and streets. Mrs Federio always followed Mrs O'Brien, and Mrs O'Brien always followed Mrs Callaway in talking and pushing and even in buying an apple. And there they were again in my hemlock; three busy chickadees. They would flit and rush around and click and fly from one eating spot to another. They were noisy, scolding and busily following each other. All the other chickadees followed them, and they made way only for Mr Brackett. The chickadees, like the people on Third Avenue, had their favourite routes to and from the best food supplies. They each had their own resting place and each had a little shelter in a tree cavity to which they would fly when the day was over. They would chatter and call goodnight and make a big fuss before they parted; and then the forest would be as quiet as the apartment house on Third Avenue when all the kids were off the streets and all the parents had said their last words to each other and everyone had gone to their own little hole.

Sometimes when the wind howled and the snows blew, the chickadees would be only out for a few hours. Even Mr Brackett, who had been elected by the chickadees to test whether or not it was too stormy for good hunting, would appear for a few hours and disappear. Sometimes I would find him just sitting quietly on a limb next to a trunk of a tree, all fluffed up and doing nothing. There was no one who enjoyed doing nothing on a bad day more than Mr Brackett of Third Avenue.

I looked at Bando and leaned over to read the headline myself.

“Have you been talking?” I asked.

“Me? Don't be ridiculous. You've had several visitors other than me.”

“The fire warden - the old lady!” I cried out.

“Now, this could only be a rumour. Just because it is in print doesn't mean it's true. Before you get excited, sit still and listen.” He read:

‘Residents of Delhi, in the Catskill Mountains, report that a wild boy who lives off deer and nuts is hiding out in the mountains. Several hunters stated that this boy stole deer from them during the hunting season.’

“I did not!” I shouted. “I only took the ones they had wounded and couldn't find.”

‘This wild boy has been seen from time to time by Catskill residents, some of whom believe he is crazy.’

“Well, that's just a terrible thing to say.” I gasped.

“Just awful,” he stated. “Any normal red-blooded American boy wants to live in a tree house and trap his own food. They just don't do it, that's all.”

‘Officials say there is no evidence of any boy living alone in the mountains and add that all abandoned houses and sheds are routinely checked for just such events. Nevertheless, the residents are sure that such a boy exists.’

“That's a lot of nonsense.” I breathed again and leaned back against the tree and smiled.

“Ho, ho, don't think that ends it,” Bando said, and reached in his pocket for another clipping.

OLD WOMAN REPORTS MEETING WILD BOY WHILE PICKING STRAWBERRIES IN CATSKILLS

‘Mrs Thoman Fielder, ninety-seven, resident of Delhi, N.Y, told this reporter she met a wild boy on Bitter Mountain last June while gathering her annual strawberry jam supply. She said the boy was brown-haired, dusty and wandering aimlessly around the mountains. However, she added, he seemed to be in good flesh and happy. Local residents report that Mrs Fielder is a fine old member of the community who only occasionally sees imaginary things.'

Bando roared. I was sweating, for I really did not expect this turn of events.

"And now," went on Bando, "Now for the queen of the New York papers."

BOY REPORTED LIVING OFF LAND IN CATSKILLS

'A young boy of 17 or 18 who left home with a group of Boy Scouts is reported to be still scouting in that area according to the fire warden of the Catskill mountains. Evidence of someone living in the forest - a fireplace, soup bones, uncracked nuts - was reported by warden Jim handy who spent the night in the wilderness looking for the lad. Jim stated that the young man had apparently left the area, as there is no evidence of his come up on a second trip.'

"What second trip?" I asked.

'There was no trace of his camp on a second trip and the warden believes that the young man returned to his home at the end of the summer.'

"You know, I could scarcely drag myself away from the newspapers to come up here. You make a marvellous story" Bando laughed.

I said, "Put more wood on the fire. It's Christmas! No one will be searching these mountains until May Day."

Extended Apply Session

Through this selection of activities children will need copies of:

- Lesson 5: Extended Application Activity
- the Vehicle Text
- the Theme cards from Lesson 1

Activate Prior knowledge: Go back to the Theme cards from lesson 1. Ask the children to order them – most relevant to least relevant, now that they have read more of the book.

Share Anchor Questions: Refer to these throughout the lesson.

Enjoy and Respond to the text:

Refer to Anchor Question A) In pairs, children to read the extracts - Lesson 5: Children Practise below. One copy between two encourages collaboration. Ask the children to consider how Matt describes Sam. Scan specifically for adjectives to describe Sam and use Find Read Talk strategy. Ask the children to think about whether everyone would agree with Matt's description.

As a class, list the characters we have met in the book – Sam's Dad, Bando, hunters, the old lady picking strawberries. Ask the children to discuss how they think each of those characters would describe Sam.

Written and Oral Responses / Evidence Anchor Question(s):

Children to work in their pairs to write a description of Sam from the viewpoint of one of the other characters. Each pair share their description with the class and the class try to Predict which character they chose.

Additional Activity

Refer to Anchor Question B) Would you recommend this story for an updated film version and why?

Watch the trailer for the 1969 film version of this book:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5VC2aykYQvc>

Teacher note: The film trailer uses a different setting, not the Catskill Mountains.

Ask the children whether they think an updated film version of this book would be popular with children these days.

Challenge the children to suggest ways they could persuade film makers to make this book into a film – by writing a few sentences recommending the book and describing its appeal.

Comprehension questions

Children to use today's extracts to answer the comprehension questions below.

Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to the children.

This may include:

- use of the strategies taught i.e. Themes, Find Read Talk, Predict, Scan
- responses to the Anchor Questions

Teacher Note:

• In this lesson there is an expectation for the children to work with increased independence and demonstrate the skills and strategies explicitly taught throughout the previous sessions.

• Depending on the time allocated to this session select all or some of the following activities.

Lesson 5: Children Practise

In the story, a boy called Matt, who wants to be a newspaper reporter, goes to the forest looking for the 'wild boy'. Though Sam lies and pretends it isn't him, Matt realises and says that he will write about him for the newspaper unless Sam lets him spend the spring holiday with him. Sam agrees. This is what he had written which persuaded Sam:

'The wild boy of the Catskills does exist. He has dark brown hair, black eyes and wears a handsome deerskin suit that he apparently made himself. He is ruddy and in excellent health and is able to build a fire with flint and steel as fast as a man can light a match. His actual dwelling is a secret but his means of support is a beautiful falcon. The falcon flies off the boy's fist and kills rabbits and pheasants when the boy needs food. He only takes what he needs. The boy's name is not known, but he ran away from home and never went back.'

Several days later I met Matt on Route 27. I tied his handkerchief around his eyes and led him, stumbling and tripping, up the mountain. I went almost directly home. I guess I didn't much care if he remembered how to get there or not. When I took off the blindfold he looked around. "Where are we? Where's your house? What do you sleep on, the ground?"

I pointed to the deerskin flaps moving in the wind in the hemlock.

"Whatdaya do, live in a tree?"

"Yep."

Matt bounced to his feet and we went in. I propped the door open so the light streamed in, and he shouted with joy. I lit the candle and we went over everything, and each invention he viewed with a shout. While I prepared trout baked in wild grape leaves, Matt sat on the bed and told me the world news in brief. I listened with care to the trouble in Europe, the trouble in the Far East, the trouble in the South and the trouble in America.

"It all proves my point," I said, "People live too close together."

"Is that why you are here?"

“Well, not exactly. The main reason is that I don't like to be dependant, particularly on electricity, rails, steam, oil, coal, machines and all those things that can go wrong.

“Well is that why you are up here?”

“Well, not exactly. Some men climbed Mount Everest just because it was there. I'm the same. Here is a wilderness.”

“Is that why?”

“Come on Matt. See that Falcon? Hear those white throated sparrows? Smell that skunk? Well, the Falcon takes the sky, the white throated sparrow takes the low bushes, the skunk takes the earth, you take the city, I take the woods.”

“Don't you get lonely?”

“Lonely? I've hardly had a quiet moment since arriving. Besides, there are people in the city who are lonelier than I.”

Vocabulary Teaching: the tropics diverse seldom	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: • Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning • Use a range of strategies for skimming, e.g. finding key words or phrases, gist, main ideas, themes • Read closely, annotating for specific purposes • Identify features of texts, e.g. introduction to topic, sequence, illustrations, degree of formality		Focus Content Domain(s): 2f identify / explain how information / narrative content is related and contributes to meaning as a whole 2h make comparisons within the text
 Step 1: READ			Read to Children 12 mins
Activate Prior Knowledge: Display objects and or images from the Amazon. These may include bananas and pineapples, jaguar, monkey, frog, tribal necklace/mask; coffee/ cocoa beans and play the sound of the Amazon rainforest as the children enter the lesson. Use Book Talk approaches to explore the potential the setting these objects and images may come from. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the lesson. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 1 Vocabulary sheet. Explore & respond: Teacher read the whole extract aloud to the children. Model using Stress for important words, including 'world's largest' and 'biggest' to aid understanding of why the Amazon is so important. Discuss what type of book they think this extract comes from and to share which features of language and structure made them think this. Draw attention to the technical language and the figures and measurements. Consider whether any presentation features are missing in this extract. Prompt the children to notice that there are no subheadings and explain that they do exist in the book but that you have removed them deliberately ready for the Model part of the lesson. Fluency: Choral Read the fluency extract. Encourage the children to use Stress when reading 'world's largest' and 'biggest' to aid understanding of why the Amazon is so important.
 Step 2: MODEL			Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Refer to Anchor Question A. Using the second paragraph, model to the children how to skim the paragraph to get a gist of the main idea and use Summarising to write a word or phrase. Circle 'region called the tropics', 'hot all year round, and it rains a lot'. '2.5 metres (8.2 ft) of rain every year', 'heat and water', 'possible for dense jungles to grow'. Teacher Talks: This paragraph is about the weather, but it's the weather all year round so I think we would call it the climate. It is specifically talking about the climate in the rainforest, so I think a good subheading for this paragraph would be 'Rainforest Climate'. I am going to read it again now that I have written my subheading to check that it fits well. Reference the Text: On an enlarged copy of the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around words that provide evidence B) underline new vocabulary explored.
 Step 3: PRACTISE			Children Practise 8 mins
Children to explore and discuss: Refer to the Anchor Questions. Children to examine the text and read through in pairs. Use the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise sheet extract to help aid discussions and read through the questions. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Questions on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions. Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: When answering Anchor Question A, actively encourage children to use Skimming, as modelled, to get a gist of the main idea and then to add their own subheadings to the next 2 paragraphs. If the children are finding it difficult to locate the evidence, for Anchor Question B consider: 'it is hot all year round, and it rains a lot', 'heat and water makes it possible for dense jungles to grow'. For Anchor Question C, consider: 'parks, cinemas, sports stadium', 'surrounded by the rainforest', 'no highways', 'things people need to live arrive in ships sailing up the Amazon River'.
 Step 4: APPLY			Children Apply 10 mins
Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 1 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: As a class, return to the Anchor Questions and take brief feedback on the children's responses. Refer to Anchor Question A and share the children's ideas for subheadings. Share the actual subheadings from the book and compare whether they are the same/ more effective and why. Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Responses to the Anchor Questions • Use of the strategies taught i.e. Choral Reading, Stress, Skimming, Summarising, Text Marking

The amazing wildlife and geography, and a wealth of culture - ancient and modern - make the region one of Earth's greatest treasures.

Lesson 1: Anchor Questions

- A) Write a word or phrase which summarises the main ideas within the paragraph to use as a subheading.
- B) Why do all rainforests grow in the tropics?
- C) Find two similarities and two differences between a city set in the Amazon Rainforest and any other city.

Lesson 1: Teacher Model / Children Practise

The Amazon is the site of the world's largest rainforest and its biggest River system. The Amazon rainforest contains some large cities, and ancient settlements also exist deeper in the jungle. The amazing wildlife and geography, and a wealth of culture - ancient and modern - make the region one of Earth's greatest treasures.

The Amazon, like all rainforests around the world, is in a region called the tropics - the land that lies between the Tropics of Cancer and Capricorn. In the tropics, it is hot all year round, and it rains a lot. Parts of the Amazon Rainforest get 2.5 metres (8.2 ft) of rain every year. All this heat and water makes it possible for dense jungles to grow.

The Amazon rainforest contains several big cities. Iquitos, in Peru, is one of the largest. It is home to 420,000 people and is just like any modern city - with parks, cinemas, and a sports stadium. The main difference is that the city is surrounded by the rainforest, and there are no highways linking it to the town next town. All the things people need to live arrive in ships sailing up the Amazon River.

The Amazon Rainforest is one of the most diverse habitats on Earth. One in 10 of the world's animals and plant species lives in its forests and rivers. Some animals, such as monkeys, seldom leave the tangle of branches, while plenty more live beside the shallow rivers. Others spend their entire lives on the forest floor.

The water flows from west to east, and eventually divides to form a huge 325- km- (202- mile) wide estuary near Macapa, Brazil. Here, the river empties enough water into the Atlantic Ocean to fill 5000 Olympic swimming pools every minute.

Lesson 2: Anchor Questions

A) Why does the author compare the amount of water to enough to 'fill 5000 Olympic swimming pools every day'?

B) What impression do you get from the words 'surges' and 'rushes'?

C) Why is the word 'pororoca' written in italics?

Lesson 2: Teacher Model / Children Practise

The River Amazon

The Amazon River is the largest river in the world, and is twice as large as its nearest rival, the Congo in Central Africa. The water flows from west to east, and eventually divides to form a huge 325- km- (202- mile) wide estuary near Macapa, Brazil. Here, the river empties enough water into the Atlantic Ocean to fill 5000 Olympic swimming pools every minute.

The Source

The Amazon River's source is Nevado Misme in the mountains of Peru. From here, meltwater flows through the mountains into the Amazon and onto the Atlantic. The Amazon is commonly thought to be 6,516 km (4,049 miles) long, second in length only to the Nile in Africa, although some scientists believe it could be longer.

Meeting of the waters

The Amazon River's largest tributary is the Rio Negro, or black river. Its water is filled with chemicals washed out of soils and plants, which make it very dark. It joins the Amazon near the Brazilian city of Manaus, but the water of the two rivers do not mix for a few kilometres, creating a two-tone river.

Great roar

Top surfers come to ride the Amazon river's tidal bore – a wave created in the river's wide mouth by the ocean tides. Twice a day, water from the Atlantic surges up the river, reversing its flow. When the tide is high and the river level is low, a 4m (13 ft) high wave rushes up the river, travelling up to 800 km (497 miles) upstream. The Brazilian name for the wave is the pororoca or “great roar”.

Lesson 2: Teacher Model

Why does the author use the word 'eventually' in the first paragraph?

I think the author uses the word 'eventually' to show that it takes a long time for the water to divide into a wide estuary because it is such a big, long river.

The Amazon region has a beach resort 1,450km (901 miles) away from the ocean. Located at Ponta Negra - on the edge of Manaus, Brazil - bathers take a dip in the Rio Negro, home to Amazon river dolphins and many fish. Lifeguards keep watch over the swimmers, but also look out for caimans.

Lesson 3: Anchor Question

What do you think are the positive and negatives of living in the Amazon region? Use evidence to support your answer.

Lesson 3: Teacher Model / Children Practise

Most people in the Amazon region lead normal lives, from watching sports to going to school. Traditional homes stand next to modern buildings in big cities, such as Manaus, Brazil. Yet even here, you are never more than 10 km (6.2 miles) from the rainforest, and river boats are often the best way to travel between towns and cities.

Floating hospital

It can take a long time to get to a hospital in remote parts of the Amazon Rainforest. Hospital ships make regular visits to isolated villages in the forests so that ill or injured people can see a doctor and receive treatment. In emergencies, faster river ambulances are used to take patients to the nearest city hospital.

Beach resort

The Amazon region has a beach resort 1,450km (901 miles) away from the ocean. Located at Ponta Negra - on the edge of Manaus, Brazil - bathers take a dip in the Rio Negro, home to Amazon river dolphins and many fish. Lifeguards keep watch over the swimmers, but also look out for caimans.

Carnival culture

Big cities in Brazil have a strong tradition of carnivals, merging African and European traditions with Native American culture. A carnival is a party that can be enjoyed by thousands of people from around the world over several days.

River village

Most Amazonian villages are built beside the river. Houses are placed high on the riverbank so they do not flood when the water level of the river is high. Belen, in Iquitos Peru, is an unusual village. The houses - attached to poles driven into the riverbed - float on the river itself, rising and falling with the water.

Schooling

Traditional Amazonian villages do not have schools. Children just play until they are old enough to help their parents with tasks. Without basic literacy skills, they cannot find jobs when they are adults. The Brazilian government is building more schools to help solve this problem.

Lesson 4: Anchor Questions

What are the benefits and the problems of using the Amazon Rainforest's natural resources?

Lesson 4: Teacher Model / Children Practise

Mining and damming

The Amazon region is home to millions of people and to some of the world's biggest cities. In order to refuel the cities' quick growth, the region's largest rivers have been dammed to generate electricity through renewable energy, and enormous mines have been dug for metals and useful minerals. There is still room for more dams, and the Amazon basin is thought to contain vast, untapped reserves of minerals. The big question is whether the rainforest is more valuable than the rich resources it holds.

Carrying oil

Pipes carry crude oil pumped from wells in the rainforests of Ecuador. This valuable resource will be used to make fuel, chemicals, plastic, and medicines. However, pipes and wells can leak, and the spilled oil pollutes the area's rivers, damaging wildlife and causing health problems for those who live in the forests.

Battle for land

There are many mines which provide iron and other important metals. However, many occupy land in the Amazon region that belongs to indigenous tribes. These people sometimes protest, so the government must consider the benefits of industry alongside the interests of the indigenous people.

Growing fuel

Brazil is the world's leading producer of sugar cane. Raw sugar from the cane is used to make ethanol, a plant-based alternative for non-renewable fuels, such as coal. Biofuels like ethanol are thought to be environmentally friendly, but creating sugar cane plantations means cutting down forests, or using land that could be used to grow crops.

Damming the River

The Amazon basin's largest dam - the Tucuruí Dam in Brazil - provides electricity for about 13 million people. However, when it was finished in 1984, it created an enormous reservoir that flooded parts of the rainforest and forced thousands of people to move out of the area. Still, dams such as these also have some environmental benefits, as they help produce electricity without releasing carbon dioxide. Today, nearly all of Brazil's electricity is generated in this manner.

Lesson 5: Vocabulary

prime example

source of income

Lesson 5: Anchor Question

Is tourism a good thing or bad thing for the Amazon Rainforest and why?

Lesson 5: Children Practise

Ecotourism

Tourists pay to visit the Amazon rainforest, and the money they pay goes to the local people and towards conservation programmes. Turning the rainforest into a world-class tourist attraction is more beneficial than cutting it down to build cities and farms. This region's holiday industry is a prime example of ecotourism as the hotels and facilities used by visitors do not create pollution or damage natural habitats.

Handicrafts

Local people in the Amazon region use latex from the trees to make natural rubber, which is used to make souvenir masks. Selling handicrafts to tourists is an important source of income for people who live in remote parts of the region.

Forest resort

Ecotourists stay in comfortable hotels, known as lodges. The buildings are designed to be highly energy efficient so they do not use a lot of fuel, which has to be brought in by boat. Waste is also kept to a minimum.

Guided tours

Most visitors to the Amazon rainforest come to see the wildlife. Local guides take tourists on walks through the rainforests or on boat tours. The tourists travel in canoes, not speed boats, as high speed vessels create waves that would damage the riverbanks. Some guided tours take place at night, when caimans and other nocturnal animals are active.

Meeting the locals

Tour groups visit villages, where the residents show off their way of life, such as how they use forest plants to make the things they need. These visits are a chance for Amazonians to make money selling traditional products to visitors.

Walking among the trees

Rope walkways and viewing platforms built in large trees are the best way to see the rainforest's birds, monkeys and specialised plants that live high up in the canopy out of sight of the forest floor.

Anchor Question(s): A) Do you think that the outskirts of the city of Salvador or the centre of the city of Salvador are poorer? Use evidence from the text to support your answer. B) Describe the city of Salvador in three adjectives. Model Question: Summarise what Dylan and Floyd know about Salvador.		Vocabulary Teaching: crammed clogged	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: • Use a range of strategies for skimming, e.g. finding key words or phrases, gist, main ideas, themes • Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning	Focus Content Domain(s): 2h make comparisons within the text 2g identify / explain how meaning is enhanced through choice of words and phrases
 Step 1: READ			Read to Children 12 mins
Activate Prior Knowledge: Watch this clip of the author talking about why she wrote this book. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yOIGZaBWcRw Teacher note: This is an adventure story and during this unit we will be mostly focusing on the descriptions of the places that the main characters visit. The unit avoids spoilers so the whole book could also be shared as a class or by the children independently. Tell the children that the main character, Dylan, has just discovered that his beloved home farm in Wales is going to be sold to a pharmaceutical company, Bluebird. Dylan thinks he can persuade the CEO of Bluebird not to buy their farm if he can speak to him ...in Brazil... so runs away to Brazil in secret. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the session. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 1 Vocabulary. Explore & respond: Teacher read extracts 1 and 2 aloud to the children. Use Pace to keep the story moving along. Ask the children why they think the author included this information about Brazil and Salvador and discuss whether it helps us to imagine the book's setting. Fluency: Choral Read the fluency extract. Use Pace to keep the story moving along as modelled.
 Step 2: MODEL			Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Refer to the model question. Summarise what Dylan and Floyd know about Salvador. Model Skimming to get a gist of what they know and circle the facts. Circle 'five thousand, five hundred and sixty eight miles away', 'On the coast. South of the equator', 'a city in Brazil' and model Summarising this into a sentence. Write: 'They know that Salvador is a city on the coast in Brazil, south of the equator and that it is five thousand, five hundred and sixty eight miles away'. Read entire section to clarify initial tin king. Reference the Text: On an enlarged copy of the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around words that provide evidence in green B) underline new vocabulary explored in orange.
 Step 3: PRACTISE			Children Practise 8 mins
Children to explore and discuss: Refer to Anchor Question A). Children to examine the extract 2 and read through in pairs. Use the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise sheet extract to help aid discussions and read through the questions. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Question on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions. Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: When answering the Anchor Question, actively encourage children to use Skimming, as modelled, to get a gist what it was like in the centre and the outskirts of the city and circle key words and phrases. If the children are finding it difficult to locate the evidence to answer the question, consider 'In the centre, the spider's web showed a tidy grid but on the edges of the city the lines became closer together, more wiggly and fainter', 'packed together in those parts', 'tiny houses, all crammed in together so tightly', 'houses swarmed', 'in the centre of the city there were skyscrapers, motorways, block after block of high rise buildings'.
 Step 4: APPLY			Children Apply 10 mins
Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 1 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: Read Anchor Question B) to the class. Read extract 3 to the children. As you read, ask the children to Stop and Jot adjectives to describe the city. Ask the children to work in pairs to consider extracts 2 and 3 and the words they have listed. As a pair, decide on the three best adjectives to describe Salvador. Share the chosen adjectives as a class. Ask a few of the children to share the evidence from the text which made them decide on their adjective choice. Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. Lesson 1: Teacher Model / Children Practise

Extract 1 adapted from p.17-20

'There's a big Bluebird office in Salvador, Brazil. That's where my dad works.' Floyd said.

'So if we could just pop over to Brazil. Just hop over all that sea.' said Dylan, hopelessly.

'All five thousand, five hundred and sixty eight miles.'

'You actually know that?'

'I know a lot about Brazil, but it doesn't get us there!'

'Where is Salvador exactly?'

'On the coast. South of the equator,' Floyd answered confidently.

The only things Dylan knew about Brazil were that it was the size of Europe and they play football all the time. And now, that it was five thousand, five hundred and sixty eight miles away.

On the kitchen computer they googled flights. At first they got El Salvador instead, a country south of Mexico. Then they realised their mistake and the right flights, for Salvador, a city in Brazil, came up. The flight took sixteen hours, with a stop in Lisbon.

Extract 2 p.60

Salvador lay beneath them in darkness except for a golden, dewy spider's web of lights showing the motorways, main roads and, as they grew closer, smaller streets. In the centre, the spider's web showed a tidy grid but on the edges of the city the lines became closer together, more wiggly and fainter. The houses and roads must be packed together in those parts. As they came closer, and dawn began to break, he could see that the hills were covered with tiny houses, all crammed in together so tightly you couldn't see the roads between them. The houses swarmed up the hillsides and down into the valleys but in the centre of the city there were skyscrapers, motorways, block after block of high rise buildings. The plane flew on and on over the enormous city. For the first time Dylan wondered if it would be possible to find what he was looking for in such a huge place.

Extract 3 p.85

They reached a three-lane motorway clogged with stationary traffic. Winding between the cars, people with baskets on their heads tried to sell bananas, crisps, bottles of water, candy floss in pink blue or green, melon, nuts, strawberries. It was like a market back in Wales gone mad, with everyone right in the middle of the road until the lights changed and they had to shoot back to the pavement. A yellow motorbike with taxi written on the fuel tank passed Dylan’s window and he was astonished to see a mum carrying a baby, a dad and a little girl all squashed up behind the driver. Along the road, brightly coloured graffiti covered the walls: huge fat lettering turned into faces that were winking or laughing. They came to a man holding small wooden cages and as the car slowed at a junction Dylan glimpsed colourful butterflies in the cages flapping against the wooden bars.

Lesson 2: Teacher Model/ Children Practise

Below them was nothing but dark green: a huge spreading fluffy carpet. No matter what angle Dylan looked through the window, to the left or right, far ahead or behind, there was nothing but green fur beneath him, thick, dense, dark, bottle-green. Dylan didn't know how high up they were, or anything to do with maths and distance but it was obvious that he was looking over miles and miles and miles of rainforest. Or more specifically - and his heart lurched when he understood - at thousands and thousands no, millions and millions of trees. His mind spun as he imagined himself down there, lost among the trees, surrounded by acres and acres of nothing but trees and wild animals. Dylan couldn't take his eyes off it. In Wales there were plenty of wild places, where hill after hill rolled on and on and lay down in the distance and changed from green to dusty blue as they got further away, but they weren't covered, as this place was, with trees. In Wales, the trees had all been cleared to make grazing land for sheep or cut down to build boats. There were bald hills, most of them covered only with heather and gorse and - in the summer - sweet black bilberries. He pressed his head against the window again. His friends would never believe there could be so many trees and Dylan wasn't sure he would be able to describe the hugeness of it. On they flew, on and on, and still the carpet of green remained unchanged. He couldn't explain to himself exactly why, but he would have done anything to be down there right in the middle of the rainforest.

Then he was blinded by a golden flash. Dylan blinked. A trail of glittering water split the forest like a wedge and Dylan realised he was looking at the Amazon river itself. Strangely, it was two-tone, split down its length: one half was black, the other sandy. It was as if one half were made of molasses, the thick brown sweet treacle Mum made gingerbread with, and the other half of fudge. Dylan's nose didn't leave the window until the rainforest grew thinner and the plane lost height and the city of Manaus came into view.

'a huge spreading fluffy carpet'

This metaphor makes it easier for me to visualise what Dylan can see. It makes me think that he is so far above and the trees are so close together that the forest looks like one full carpet. It also makes me think it must be enormous because the author uses 'huge spreading'.

Lesson 3: Teacher Model / Children Practise

A few slanting shafts of sunlight glanced through the crowded treetop canopy, but they weren't strong enough to brighten the heavy shade. With each footstep, smells wafted up, of something like tea leaves or rain or the herby stuff Mum put in stews. A brief knocking drumroll made Dylan look to his left, where a creamy woodpecker with a tufted red head and a long sharp beak battered away at a trunk.

Dylan bent beneath the branch, climbed over a fallen log and nearly tripped over a rotting root which slid upwards until it joined the tallest tree trunk he had ever seen. He gazed up and up. The tree was so high that Dylan had to bend his head as far back as it would go to gaze at a fuzzy mess of bright greenery spangled by sunlight.

Dylan couldn't see any creatures, but he could sense them everywhere. A strange orchestra was tuning up, with layers of noise overlapping each other. The high whine of mosquitoes was punctuated by crickets buzzing. Something flew overhead, the branches waved and 'choo-choo-choo, piroo-piroo' sounded from a flock of small birds. Something scampered by their feet, and the ground rustled and shifted. Something crept away at a distance and nothing but tiny fragments of shadows moved.

'This whole place is alive!'

Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 4 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: Children to write whether the example is a simile or metaphor, what it describes and describe the Reader Effect on the Lesson 4: Children Apply grid. Briefly feedback children's answers. Ask the children to work in pairs to create their own example of figurative language to describe something they have met in the book so far. The rest of the class then try to guess what they are describing. If any children are struggling, ask them to consider examples for the Amazon river. Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Responses to the Anchor Questions • Use of the strategies taught i.e., Choral Reading, Intonation, Text Marking, Summarise, Reader Effect
			Acceptable Point(s) Anchor Question <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the tent is compared to a skeleton – with the backbone, ribs and bones described. This makes the reader think the tent is fragile like the life it is destroying. • the yellow digger is compared to a monster as it is destructive and dangerous. • the sun is compared to a snake because of its slithering movement (slow and thin shape) as it sets. Snakes are relevant to the rainforest setting. • the dolphins are compared to hills which rise and fall. This helps the reader to imagine their shape and reminds the reader about Dylan's home in the hills in Wales.

Lesson 4: Anchor Question

How does the author use figurative language and what is the effect on the reader?

Lesson 4: Teacher Model / Children Practise

Purple shoots wound their way out of some of the pots, each one with a tight black bud like a clenched fist at the end of it. Other pots had bushes with scarlet, star shaped flowers and out of others dripped long green leaves, all curling up at the edges like fingers beckoning them to come closer. Fully grown ferns uncurled and reached elegantly upwards, proudly displaying their complicated patterns on green arms.

The thunderous rumble became a terrible creaking. The white walls and ceiling shifted seemed to stretch and pull as if something enormous was yanking at them. The metal backbone of the great tent wobbled and the ribs twisted. A great snap sounded as the white plastic sheeting ripped apart and shrank away, exposing the bones of the tent. One huge rib buckled and broke in the middle and both new ends shot upwards as the sheeting fell in wrinkles to the ground.

What sort of monster could chew up a lab? The flapping, shrinking plastic sheeting was hiding it from view. The sheeting rustled and contorted as it was sucked further and further into the jaws of...

The yellow digger.

The treetops turned black as the sun slithered away like a snake, in purple and lilac streaks. Before it had completely gone and still glinted on the surface of the water, three large bright pink forms broke the water like hills that appeared and sank again.

Lesson 5: Anchor Question

What are the descriptive techniques used by the author and what is their effect on the reader?

Lesson 5: Children Practise

When his vision had cleared, he saw that beyond the path was the river itself, the broad, bronze-brown, breathless Amazon River, a massive magical murmuring body of water, a river so wide and so slow you could spend the rest of your life looking at it and still not have enough time. Smells of life and death, of fresh greenery, of rotting brownery, of the upwardness of birds and the secrecy of fish, of possibility and excitement invaded Dylan's senses. The sky was higher and higher and wider and wider than any sky in Wales, with the horizon that drifted off so far that Dylan's mind stretched just thinking about it. It stretched and stretched until it burst, and everything Dylan had understood until now had to reorganise itself, like a kaleidoscope turned into a different pattern. This must be what people meant by expanding your mind. Dylan's place by the river was everything to him, but it was not everything. Ideas about life and the world and all the rivers and what he would do and where he would go sparked off in his brain like fireworks. He had stopped wanting to save his farm and his patch by the River. He wanted to save every patch by every river.

Anchor Question(s): A) Why is 'this protector' a good description of the Andes mountain range? B) The Andes is the longest mountain range in the world. Which words and phrases does the poet use to show this? Model Question: Why is 'snaking' an effective verb choice?		Vocabulary Teaching: domain dominate expansive plateaus adversity Technical Vocabulary orographic knots galvanised	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: • Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning • Identify, discuss and evaluate the difference between literal and figurative language, commenting on the effectiveness of the author's language to create mood and build tension and the impact on the reader • Use a range of strategies for skimming, e.g. finding key words or phrases, gist, main ideas, themes
		Focus Content Domain(s): 2g identify / explain how meaning is enhanced through choice of words and phrases
		<h2>Step 1: READ</h2>		Read to Children 12 mins
Activate Prior Knowledge: Give the children a map of America and the names of the three locations which will be studied this week: The Andes, New York and the Amazon Rainforest. Ask the children to locate and describe the three places using their knowledge so far. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the lesson. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 1 Vocabulary sheet. Explore & respond: Teacher read the whole poem to the children, using Intonation to emphasise the rhythm and rhyme. As the children to identify the rhyme pattern – rhyming couplets – then ask them to identify which are full rhyme and which are half rhyme – and underline in two different colours. Ask the children to Think Pair Share what they learn about The Andes from the poem and take brief feedback to add to the flipchart. Fluency: Choral Read the fluency extract. Use Intonation to emphasise the rhythm and rhyme.
		<h2>Step 2: MODEL</h2>		Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Refer to the model question. Why is 'snaking' an effective verb choice? Model skimming to find the key word 'snaking'. Circle 'snaking seven countries in South America's domain.' Teacher Talks: 'Snaking' is an effective verb choice because the Andes mountains curve like a snake. It also gives the impression that The Andes are long like a snake. Also, snakes live in the Andes so it is relevant and gives you an idea of the wildlife living there. Model answering the question on Lesson 1: Teacher Model. Reference the Text: On an enlarged copy of the Lesson 1 Teacher Model / Children Practise, Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around words that provide evidence B) underline new vocabulary explored.

Lesson 1: Teacher Model / Children Practise

The Andes, South America

‘Cordillera de los Andes’ – the longest mountain range; snaking seven countries in South America’s domain. Its snow-capped peaks that dominate five thousand miles and more.

To the east; expansive continent. To the west’s Pacific shore.

Locked together by great plateaus – ‘orographic knots’, where humans have built cities, civilisations past, long lost. Bustling, overcrowded – tourists’ wonderland - diversity, adversity stand together hand in hand.

Glaciers, volcanoes, lakes and desert vast
Where The Amazon originates, so The Andes’ fruits contrast.
And the wet, the dry, the tropical – this protector up on high
Has galvanised a landscape – the jewel of any eye.

Anchor Question(s): From the fourth and fifth stanzas, what impression do you get of New York? Which and which words and phrases give you that impression? Compare and contrast the different impressions given in the two stanzas. Model Question: Summarise what happened to the Lenape tribe.	Vocabulary Teaching: plight immigrants purged waged on stake their claim metropolis mother tongues waivers	Focus Comprehension & Strategies: • Identify how language, structure and presentation contribute to meaning • Read and discuss a range of poetry	Focus Content Domain(s): 2h make comparisons within the text
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 1: READ</h2>			Read to Children 12 mins
Activate Prior Knowledge: Tell the children that 'The Lenape' are the indigenous tribe who lived in the New York area. Share Anchor Question(s): Explicitly refer to these throughout the lesson. Vocabulary: Discuss and explain these in the context of where they are located within the text and refer to Lesson 2 Vocabulary sheet. Explore & respond: Teacher to read aloud the whole poem. As in the last lesson, consider rhyme and half-rhyme and colour in two different colours. Ask the children to clap in time as you re-read the poem, drawing attention to the rhythm. Also note the lists of three: 'Fishing, farming, hunting', 'The French, the Dutch, the English', 'The guns, the gangs, the sirens' and how this adds to the strong rhythm. Fluency: Choral Read the fluency extract, using Intonation and clapping in time to accentuate the rhythm.
 <h2 style="margin: 0;">Step 2: MODEL</h2>			Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Refer to the Model question: Summarise what happened to the Lenape tribe. Model Re-Reading the whole poem again and circling evidence to answer the question. Circle 'The land of 'The Lenape', for many thousand years. Fishing, farming, hunting' 'Explorers, then their immigrants, purged this newfound shore', 'The French, the Dutch, the English, from fifteen twenty four', 'wars and conflicts', 'centuries of fighting', 'This tribe, now dust forever' Use Think Aloud to use the ideas to summarise and model how to answer the question - Lesson 2: Teacher Model. Reference the Text: On an enlarged copy of the Lesson 2 Teacher Model / Children Practise Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle un green around the words that provide evidence for the model question B) underline the new vocabulary explored in orange

Lesson 2: Teacher Model/Children Practise

New York

The land of 'The Lenape', for many thousand years.
Fishing, farming, hunting; but what plight was drawing near?

Explorers, then their immigrants, purged this newfound shore.
The French, the Dutch, the English, from fifteen twenty four.

Countless wars and conflicts, waged on to stake their claim.
After centuries of fighting, New York at last was named.

With a world-impressive harbour, Hudson River flowing deep.
Central Park dwarfed by scrapers; twenty million stomping feet.

And the snarling tide of transport - yellow taxis honking fear.
The guns, the gangs, the sirens, that scream out "I am here"!

This city, this metropolis – two hundred Mother tongues,
that never sleeps or waivers, for its old and for its young.

And on Manhattan Island, standing strong for liberty -
looking outwards as She welcomes all who cross the sea.
With symbolic torch held skyward, lit for 'The Lenape'?
This tribe, now dust forever - on 'The Land of the Free'.

Ask the children to describe the Reader Effect. Fluency: Choral Read x2 the fluency extract, using Pausing to add impact by pausing at the commas and dashes.
 Step 2: MODEL			Model to Children 5 mins
Explicitly Model Strategies & Skills: Reference the Anchor Question then Re-read the first poem – ‘The Andes’. Model how to use Scan to find key words (e.g. human, man, people). Circle ‘where humans have built cities, civilisations past, long lost. Bustling, overcrowded’ Model how to answer the Anchor Question on Lesson 4: Teacher Model. Reference the Text: Text Mark and discuss the evidence located by: A) drawing a circle around the words that provide evidence for the model question B) underline the new vocabulary explored
 Step 3: PRACTISE			Children Practise 8 mins
Children to explore and discuss: Refer to the Anchor Question. Children to examine the other two poems and read through in pairs. One copy of the text between two encourages collaborative working and discussion. Also place the Anchor Question on the IWB / Flipchart and encourage discussions. Practise Taught Strategies & Skills: Children to Text mark and circle evidence. If children are struggling, encourage them to consider: ‘purged’, ‘Countless wars and conflicts’, ‘snarling tide of transport’, ‘taxis honking fear.’, ‘The guns, the gangs, the sirens, that scream out “I am here”’, ‘misplaced might of man’, ‘bulldozing’, ‘purloining palm oil; pilfering rubber’, ‘His hands squeeze the lungs of the world’.
 Step 4: APPLY			Children Apply 10 mins
Evidence Anchor Question(s): In Reading Journals, children to complete Lesson 4 Children Apply Activity. Verbal & Written Responses: As a class, return to the Anchor Question and take feedback on what the children have written in their Apply Activity. Ask the children about the main Themes within each poem. Children to work in pairs to match the themes to the poems, deciding which each poem explores. Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to children. This may include feedback on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Responses to the Anchor Questions • Use of the strategies taught i.e., Choral Reading, Pausing, Mind Map, Reader Effect, Skimming, Text Marking, Themes

Locked together by great plateaus –
'orographic knots',
where humans have built cities, civilisations
past, long lost.
Bustling, overcrowded – tourists' wonderland
diversity, adversity stand together hand in hand.

Lesson 4: Anchor Question

Over time, humans have had a negative impact in America.
Do you agree? Use evidence from the poems to support your answer.

Lesson 4: Teacher Model

The Andes, South America

‘Cordillera de los Andes’ – the longest mountain range; snaking seven countries in South America’s domain. Its snow-capped peaks that dominate five thousand miles and more. To the east; expansive continent. To the west’s Pacific shore.

Locked together by great plateaus – ‘orographic knots’, where humans have built cities, civilisations past, long lost. Bustling, overcrowded – tourists’ wonderland - diversity, adversity stand together hand in hand.

Glaciers, volcanoes, lakes and desert vast
Where The Amazon originates, so The Andes’ fruits contrast.
And the wet, the dry, the tropical – this protector up on high
Has galvanised a landscape – the jewel of any eye.

Lesson 4: Teacher Model

Over time, humans have had a negative impact in America. Do you agree? Use evidence from the poems to support your answer.

The Andes

Yes, I think that humans have had a negative impact in The Andes because they have built big cities and the area has become overcrowded. There are a lot of tourists and the ancient civilizations have been lost.

Lesson 4: Children Practise

New York

The land of 'The Lenape', for many thousand years.
Fishing, farming, hunting; but what plight was drawing near?

Explorers, then their immigrants, purged this newfound shore.
The French, the Dutch, the English, from fifteen twenty four.

Countless wars and conflicts, waged on to stake their claim.
After centuries of fighting, New York at last was named.

With a world-impressive harbour, Hudson River flowing deep.
Central Park dwarfed by scrapers; twenty million stomping feet.

And the snarling tide of transport - yellow taxis honking fear.
The guns, the gangs, the sirens, that scream out "I am here"!

This city, this metropolis – two hundred Mother tongues,
that never sleeps or waivers, for its old and for its young.

And on Manhattan Island, standing strong for liberty -
looking outwards as She welcomes all who cross the sea.
With symbolic torch held skyward, lit for 'The Lenape'?
This tribe, now dust forever - on 'The Land of the Free'.

The Amazon Rainforest

With spider bite

She fights...

Against the misplaced might of man –
bulldozing Her precious Amazon child; innocent green.

She sheds Her tears of pride through misty eyes - hope on hope.

With jaguar stealth

She fights...

Against His purloining palm oil; pilfering rubber.
Holding tight her precious Amazon child; innocent green.

She sheds Her tears of rage through misty eyes - pain on pain.

With macaw squawk

She fights.

As His hands squeeze the lungs of the world.

Asleep. She rocks her Amazon child; innocent green... and weeps.

Extended Apply Session

Through this selection of activities children will need copies of:

- Lesson 5: Extended Application Activity
- the Vehicle Texts

Activate Prior knowledge: Watch some poets performing their poems. As a class, discuss and consider the effect of their use of the fluency techniques focused on this week: Intonation, Pace, Stress and Pause. Also consider their use of actions if applicable.

Share Anchor Questions: Refer to these throughout the lesson.

Enjoy and Respond to the text:

Refer to Anchor Question A) In pairs, children to Re-read the three poems from the week Lesson 5: Children Practise. One copy between two encourages collaboration. While reading each poem, children to Stop and Jot ideas about what they like about the poem.

Written and Oral Responses / Evidence Anchor Question(s):

Children to write a sentence in the speech bubble - Lesson 5: Children Apply – to explain which poem they recommend to their peers and why.

Performance Activity:

Children to work in pairs and choose their favourite part of one of the poems. It could be 1-3 stanzas. Explain to the children that they are going to learn their part of the poem by heart and perform it to the class. Encourage the children to create some actions which will help them to remember the lines and to perform. Remind the children to use the fluency skills focused on during this unit - Intonation, Pace, Stress and Pause.

Once the children have had time to practise, encourage them to perform to the class and for the class to offer feedback about their performance. Ask the children how their actions helped them to remember their lines and enhanced their performance.

Comprehension questions

Children to use today's extracts to answer the comprehension questions below.

Feedback on Learning: Use assessment for learning to inform feedback to the children.

This may include:

- use of the strategies taught i.e. Stop and Jot, Intonation, Pace, Stress, Pause
- responses to the Anchor Questions.

Teacher Note:

- In this lesson there is an expectation for the children to work with increased independence and demonstrate the skills and strategies explicitly taught throughout the previous sessions.
- Depending on the time allocated to this session select all or some of the following activities.

These offer a rich opportunity to perform in assembly or for another class - be sure to share this with us on Twitter: @literacycounts1 and Instagram: @literacycountsconsult there are prizes to be won

Teacher Note: Instrument can be used to aid a steady beat of these rhyming poems which will help with their performance.

2. In New York, why do you think the poet chose to describe the transport as 'snarling tide'?

3. What happens to 'the child' at the end of the poem 'The Amazon Rainforest'?

Comprehension Skills & Strategies

Supporting the development of comprehension:

Activating Prior Knowledge

Children reflect on what is already known about a topic, or theme from previous reading or experiences to make links. Helpful for inference and encouraging children to elaborate. The teacher is able to then backfill information and deal with misconceptions. This aids recall too (also see Mind Map).

Book Talk

Talking about the books' illustrations, plot and characters etc, helps children make sense of it. In the context of Steps to Read this is a useful strategy to remind children of prior knowledge and make simple connections and predictions. The role of the teacher here is to notice and adjust their questioning based on what the child says. In Book Talk all ideas and thoughts are encouraged with no predefined 'correct' answer.

Build Word Meaning (Word by Word)

The reader builds understanding and clarity on a pre-read sentence, word by word and considers the effect each word has on the sentence and their understanding of it.

Build Sentence Meaning (Line by Line)

The reader discusses additional information received by subsequent sentence(s). Opportunities should be sought to clarify understanding, make links to preceding sentences and recalibrate thinking in the light of new information received.

Choral Reading

Reading aloud in unison with a group or the whole class to build fluency (see Fluency)

Clarifying

The reader asks for or offers clarification of the meaning of unknown words or phrases. This also encourages readers to monitor their understanding of the text and allows the teacher to check whether there are any gaps in understanding.

Connect Books

The reader makes connections to themes, character(s), plot etc that are similar or different to other texts read.

Connect Paragraphs

The reader links evidence words, phrases or themes that inform ideas and inferences that are common across different parts of a selected text.

Connect Words

Looking at words across a text that relate to one another and provide evidence for Anchor Questions. These could relate to theme, character, setting, plot and inferences etc. The reader can also consider authorial intention. That is, what the author wrote and what the reader thinks and how this is informed by word choices.

Deliberate Mistake

This is where the teacher models an incorrect reading of a whole word (Common Exception Word or Decodable word). The teacher models how to correct the error by looking for known GPCs. e.g. the word 'rain' read as 'rin' and self-correcting by segmenting and blending. r/ai/n

Fact and opinion

Commonly taught through non-fiction text such as newspapers, this is the ability to decipher which parts of a text are the opinion of the author and which are fact. e.g. Charles Darwin travelled across seas on board HMS Beagle (fact) visiting wondrous places (author's opinion).

Find Read Talk

Helpful strategy for vocabulary understanding and picking up clues from within the sentence about what a word means. Children locate the word (Find) read the sentence where it is placed (Read) and then discuss with their partner (Talk).

Fluency

The ability to read with appropriate pace, accuracy and expression. Fluent readers add intonation appropriately to their reading, notice punctuation and have a greater comprehension of what they have read. Here are some useful ways of teacher modelling and children practising it:

- Pausing: The reader pauses at appropriate points in the text to reflect the punctuation cues which aid comprehension
- Phrasing: Length of the reader's pauses into meaningful units. This kind of pausing goes beyond acknowledging the punctuation. In good reading, the pauses are logically and well-paced; in oral reading they help the reader
- Intonation/Rhythm: The reader employs a rhythmic tonal quality. The voice goes up and down, reflecting the punctuation and the meaning
- Stress: The reader stresses words by saying them slightly louder to indicate his / her interpretation of the meaning
- Rate: The reader moves along at an appropriate pace for the purpose of the reading, varying pace as needed

Infer

Using evidence in the text to work out what has actually happened when it hasn't been explicitly stated. Commonly referred to as 'reading between the lines', it is a way of tying clues together.

Line by Line (Build Sentence Meaning)

The reader discusses additional information received by subsequent sentence(s). Opportunities should be sought to clarify understanding, make links to preceding sentences and re calibrate thinking in the light of new information received.

My Turn, Your Turn

This is where the teacher models the following to help children access the vehicle text and build automaticity of words:

- word reading
- segmenting and the children blend

- blending and the children segment (important to practise the reciprocity of these skills)

Mind Map

This is a visual diagram which explicitly records children's prior knowledge and thoughts about a particular theme or subject where the teacher records children's responses. These are often written around a theme or topic (e.g. tigers, or friendship etc). This is a useful strategy to activate prior learning and could be placed in the whole class reading journal.

Predict

Prediction is based on textual evidence and supports the development of inference-making skills. Depending on the question, the reader can base predictions on textual evidence that relates to character, setting and plot already read. We can predict forwards and backwards, both of which are based on textual evidence.

Questioning / Question the Text

Teacher Questioning: High-quality questioning that promotes high quality thinking and discussion to improve reading comprehension. By promoting and modelling questions before, during and after reading, we help pupils at every stage of the reading process. Questioning helps children identify major aspects of the text.

Self-Questioning

Self-questioning also develops successful, strategic readers and modelling this aloud to children is vital. Here are some useful ways of thinking about questioning:

- Right There Question: The answer is explicit in the text
- Think and Search Question: The answer can be found in the text but some level of inference-making will be required
- On My Own Question: The reader is encouraged to bring her/his background knowledge to the text

Reader Effect

How the text makes the reader feel from the words and phrases that have been used. That is, what the author wrote and what the reader thinks and feels.

Referencing the Text

Indicating the words and phrases identified by the reader that provide evidence for the anchor question(s) that have been asked.

Reread

Rereading a sentence, paragraph or phrase to seek clarity and understanding. This can be at the request of the teacher or completed automatically by the developing reading.

Scanning

Locating specific information in a text from a question asked or read. Locating at speed and reading around the correct location.

Self-Correct

The reader corrects a misread word without external support or prompt. The reader recognises that the word is incorrect.

Sense Making (Syntax)

Understanding the correct way in which words and phrases are arranged to make sense and noticing when this does not.

✓ I went to the park.

X I went the to park.

Also see self-correction.

Sequencing

Placing events or sentences in a story or information from non-fiction in the correct order. Helpful for retelling too.

Skimming

Getting a general overview of a text. In non-fiction this may be title, bold print, captions. In fiction this could be chapter title first line last line. This gives the reader a gist of what the text is about.

Stop & Jot

Making notes and using them to shape evidence and ideas. Return to these to seek clarity and further evidence ideas throughout the reading lesson.

Summarising

Focus on the main content of the text. It involves the reader distinguishing between important and unimportant information in a text and then synthesising the key points briefly.

Text Marking

Marking the text with a goal in mind. This helps the reader reference the ideas captured from the printed word.

Text Structures

Identification of text structures helps children with reasoning and understanding. The key to understanding texts structures is to identify their underlying features. When familiar, pupils can more actively identify them through, skimming and scanning to gain a gist of what the text is about.

Themes

Invites the reader to think about the main idea of a text or its underlying meaning. Themes can be words e.g. love, fear, survival and phrases e.g. good versus evil, survival of the fittest, triumph over adversity etc. There may be several literary themes attached to a sentence, paragraph or chapter of book that invite a deeper reflection for the reader.

Think Aloud

Thinking aloud involves the reader making personal thoughts audible while the text is being read (often referred to as the 'thinking voice'). The reader pauses after reading some text and makes their thoughts explicit. There are two types of think-aloud: teacher think-aloud and pupil think-aloud. Teacher think-aloud models the process for the pupils, so that they know what to do. This strategy aids deeper thinking.

Visualising

Encourages the reader to represent the text in visual form during and after the text has been read to or by the child. It allows important elements of the text to be captured and makes it more memorable. It also helps children focus on words and phrases used. It transfers imagery from the printed word into pictures.

What next?

Used in the moment of reading aloud, the teacher invites the children to make simple logical link between what has just been heard and what will logically happen next. This strategy can be used multiple times and is early prediction work (see Prediction).

Word by Word (Build Word Meaning)

The reader builds understanding and clarity on a pre read sentence word by word and considers the effect each word has on the sentence and their understanding of it.

Word Count

Teacher and child count each word in a sentence. This helps the children to understand the concept of a word and that words make sentences. This helps break down speech into word correspondence. It supports recognition that each word is separated by a space when represented in print. It helps children understand the concept of a word as a precursor to GPCs and segmenting and blending to read.

Word Work

- Teacher reads Decodable Words found in the vehicle text. Children read in pairs x2
- Teacher reads Common Exception Words found in the vehicle text to children. Children read in pairs x2

Reading Assessment

Reading Assessment Counts: Year 1

Working towards the expected standard

Word Reading
The pupil can:

- ✓ read some capital letters and all the digits 0-9
- ✓ apply some phonic knowledge and skills as the route to decode words
- ✓ recognise the correct sound for graphemes (letters or groups of letters) for many of the 40+ phonemes, including some alternative sounds for graphemes
- ✓ read accurately by blending some sounds in unfamiliar words containing GPCs that have been taught
- ✓ read some common exception words, noting correspondences between spelling and sound and where these occur in the word
- ✓ read some words containing taught GPCs and -s, -ed, -er and -est endings
- ✓ read aloud books that are consistent with their developing phonic knowledge and that do not require them to use other strategies to work out words
- ✓ re-read books to build up fluency and confidence

Comprehension
The pupil can demonstrate pleasure in reading, motivation to read, vocabulary and understanding.
The pupil can:

- ✓ listen to and discuss some poems, stories and non-fiction at a level beyond that at which they can read independently
- ✓ link what they read or heard to their own experiences
- show familiarity with some key stories, fairy stories and traditional tales, retelling them and considering some of their particular characteristics
- ✓ recognise and join in with some predictable story phrases
- ✓ recite, by heart, some rhymes and poems
- ✓ discuss word meanings and link some meanings to those already known

The pupil can understand both the books they can already read, as well as those they listen to.
The pupil can:

- draw on what they already know or have experienced
- ✓ check that text makes sense to them as they read and correcting some inaccuracies when reading
- ✓ discuss book title and events in stories
- ✓ make some inferences on the basis of what is being said and done by a character
- ✓ make some predictions on what might happen on the basis of what has been read so far
- begin to participate and explain through discussion about what is read to them

Working at the expected standard in Year 1

Word Reading
The pupil can:

- ✓ read all capital letters and the days of the week
- apply phonic knowledge and skills as the route to decode words with increasing accuracy and fluency
- ✓ respond speedily with the correct sound to graphemes (letters or groups of letters) for some 40+ phonemes and many alternative sounds for graphemes
- ✓ read accurately by blending sounds in unfamiliar words containing GPCs that have been taught
- read common exception words, noting unusual correspondences between spelling and sound and where these occur in the word
- ✓ read words containing taught GPCs and -s, -ed, -er and -est endings
- ✓ read other words of more than one syllable that contain taught GPCs
- ✓ read words with contractions (for example, 'an, 'll, 're, 've) and understand that the apostrophe represents the omitted letter(s)
- ✓ read aloud accurately decodable books that are consistent with their developing phonic knowledge and that do not require them to use other strategies to work out words
- re-read books to build up fluency and confidence

Comprehension
The pupil can demonstrate pleasure in reading, motivation to read, vocabulary and understanding.
The pupil can:

- ✓ listen to and discuss poems, stories and non-fiction at a level beyond that at which they can read independently
- link what they read or hear to their own experiences
- become familiar with several key stories, fairy stories and traditional tales, retelling them and considering their particular characteristics

- ✓ discuss word meanings and link new meanings to those already known

The pupil can understand both the books they can already read, as well as those they listen to.
The pupil can:

- draw on what they already know or on background information and vocabulary provided by the teacher
- ✓ check that the text makes sense to them as they read and correcting inaccurate reading
- ✓ discuss significant events in stories
- ✓ make inferences on the basis of what is being said and done
- ✓ predict what might happen on the basis of what has been read so far
- participate in discussion and explain clearly about what is read to them, taking turns and listening to what others say

Working at greater depth in Year 1

Word Reading

- read aloud accurately books that are consistent with their developing phonic knowledge
- re-read books for speed and increased accuracy

Comprehension
The pupil can demonstrate pleasure in reading, motivation to read, vocabulary and understanding.
The pupil can:

- listen to and discuss a wide range of poems, stories and non-fiction at a level beyond that at which they can read independently
- appreciating rhymes and poems, and by reciting some by heart using appropriate expression and intonation to demonstrate understanding
- ✓ discuss an increasing amount of word meanings in context, linking meanings to those already known and sometimes discussing alternative meanings of the same word (e.g. through exploration of synonymy)

The pupil can understand both the books they can already read, as well as those they listen to.
The pupil can:

- draw on what they already know or on background information and vocabulary
- ✓ make inferences on the basis of what is being said and done across the book and drawing on other books they have read
- ✓ predict what might happen on the basis of what has been read so far noting the words and phrases from the text to explain
- participate in discussion and explain accurately, what is read to them

Reading Assessment Counts: Year 5		Name of pupil:
Working towards the expected standard		A	B	C	D	E	F	Collect
Word Reading	The pupil can:
	• apply their growing knowledge of root words, prefixes and suffixes (morphology and etymology), as listed in English Appendix 1, both to read aloud and to understand the meaning of new words that they meet
Comprehension	The pupil maintains positive attitudes to reading and understanding of what they read, by:
	• read fiction, poetry, non-fiction and reference books or textbooks
	• read some books that are structured in different ways and read for a range of purposes
	• increase their familiarity with a range of books, including myths, legends and traditional stories, modern fiction, fiction from our literary heritage, and books from other cultures and traditions
	• recommend some books that they have read to their peers, giving reasons for their choices

Greater Depth Counts: Year 4

Characteristics

The pupil:

- ✓ applies Year 4 learning in different contexts independently
- ✓ can capture, keep and develop ideas from quality texts and applies them in their writing
- ✓ has an enthusiasm for reading
- ✓ makes accurate and informed inferences across a range of texts, justifying their response with evidence
- ✓ makes accurate and informed predictions across a range of texts, justifying their response with evidence
- ✓ participates confidently in discussion about books, comparing and contrasting a range of texts and justifying their views with evidence
- ✓ has an awareness of the author's use of language and why an author has chosen particular and precise vocabulary
- ✓ has an understanding of different genres and can express a reasoned preference
- ✓ can empathise with characters
- ✓ can demonstrate an interest in new vocabulary

This document will aid teachers in gaining a deeper understanding of each standard within a year group and the progress children are making across a year. It will assist teachers in identifying gaps in learning and will consequently inform planning. Beyond this, it will support school leaders in the identification of whole school priorities for improvement. Used as a moderation tool for all year groups (from Year 1 to Year 6), it will ensure consistency of judgement both within and across schools.
